

Bearclaw Lands in the Arctic Circle!

One of the loyal Brooklyn customers decided to take a journey up to the Arctic Circle. The crazy thing about this trip wasn't just the fact that Nick decided to go up to the Arctic Circle or that he was going to travel over 13,000 miles with these crazy gas prices we all love. Nick and his friend decided to ride out this long journey on their motorcycles! The Brooklyn staff sent Nick on his way with some of our coffee, how can you go anywhere without it? He was kind enough to send us pictures from his journey.

Email submission – August 2008